THE

DUBLIN REVIEW.

VOL. CIX.

JULY—OCTOBER, 1891.

Public Library,
APR 25 1892
DETROIT, MICH.

LONDON:
BURNS & OATES LIMITED. J. DONOVAN, 19, HENRIETTA STREET, W.C.
DUBLIN: M. H. GILL & SON.

CONTENTS.

PAGE

ART. I.—THE PENAL LAWS—AN HISTORICAL RETROSPECT . 1

Religious history of England divided at year 1535: Establishment of Royal Supremacy characteristic of English Reformation—Historical preparation for, and manner of, establishment of Royal Supremacy—Papal supremacy was involved in the King's matrimonial cause—Seven Statutes leading up to Royal Supremacy—Elizabeth shrinks from taking the title, but assumes authority of Head of Church—Her Acts of Supremacy and Uniformity form basis of Penal Code: her repressive statutes enumerated—Pains of Recusancy—Mass, devotions, and education prohibited—Catholics debarred from public life: property disabilities.

ART. II.—JOHN MACHALE, ARCHBISHOP OF TUAM . . . 27

Mgr. O'Reilly's Life misrepresents the subject of it: but presents materials for a fairer estimate—Early life: Maynooth: Coadjutor-bishop of Kilala—Great Measures advocated by him from 1831—Made Archbishop of Tuam in spite of English opposition—His opposition to educational course adopted by other bishops right in theory but not in practice—Contending influence of Cardinal Cullen: Dr. MacHale's influence dies out at Rome—Criticism of the Chapter on his Episcopal Jubilee—John of Tuam as an English and a Gaelic scholar.

ART. III.—TRADES UNIONISM AMONG WOMEN IN IRELAND . 41

Perhaps not technical "sweating," but the thing in a popular sense very prevalent in Ireland—Lowness of women's wages—Organisation started at Belfast last October: marked success: various Unions formed: previous efforts for women—Appeal for sympathy and help from ladies of Ireland.

PAGE

ART IV.—THE AUGUSTINIAN SYSTEM 48

The title adopted by Protestants from Pelagians, but in different sense, for St. Augustine's doctrine on original sin, free-will, grace, and predestination: three last points to be examined here—Some remarks on the Saint's spirit and class of arguments: he could not have been the author of a "system" opposed to Catholic teaching—Detailed examination of his doctrine on free-will: objections answered—Doctrine on grace: Hay's Sincere Christian—Doctrine on Predestination.

ART V.—A NEW SYSTEM OF BIBLICAL HISTORY: THE AGE OF THE PSALMS 69

M. Maurice Vernes' new "Regressive Method" of Biblical Criticism: brief and general reply to his main principle—In his new chronological arrangement of the Biblical Books, M. Vernes places the Psalms last: his argument is merely personal feeling—Supposition that the character of David is incompatible with peaceful spirit of the Psalms: General Reply—Special inquiry into date of certain Psalms, to be found in themselves—Those which, as it were, bear the author's signature, manifest date by their matter—Another class of Psalms can be probably dated—Difficulties of theory of Post-Exilian origin.

ART VI.—CATHOLIC THEOLOGY IN ENGLAND 92

Spirit of "Nationalism" alien to Catholic theology—Abundance of eminent English Catholic theologians: only one or two of each period can be here enumerated—St. Bede and St. Aelred—John of Salisbury—Robert Pullen and Robert of Melun—Alexander of Hales—Roger Bacon—Richard Middleton—William of Occam and Walter Burleigh—John Bacon—Thomas of Walden—Thomas Stapleton—A great work waiting to be done, and done in the vernacular, by English theologians: reasons for encouragement.

ART. VII.—THE INTERNUNICIO AT PARIS DURING THE REVOLUTION 107

The French Clergy under the ancien régime—Salamon's early life—Appointed Internuncio 1790—Arrested—The September Massacres—Life in the Woods—Return to civilised life—Trials under the Directory—"Passed over"—Made Bishop of Saint-Flour—Death.

PAGE

ART. VIII.—INDEPENDENT NATIONAL CHURCHES . . . 124

Period following Nicæa: growth of Episcopal Rebellion against Nicene Canons, and manifestation of Papal prerogatives—A letter of Pope St. Julius, ample evidence of the Church's tradition—Arianism adopted and protected by Emperors: efforts of these to supplant Bishop of Old Rome by Patriarch of New Rome—What were the missing Nicene Canons to which St. Julius appeals? The so-called Sardican—Dr. Bright's charge against St. Leo replied to—The Roman Pontiffs and the Canons of the Church—Historical evidence that Sardican Canons really Nicene: their witness to Roman prerogatives—Constancy of Pontiffs: Liberius and Damasus—The first Council of Constantinople: object of its assembly—Was Meletius in communion with Rome?—The third Canon not that of an Œcumenical Council—Summary.

ART. IX.—LEO XIII. ON "THE CONDITION OF LABOUR" . 153

Since Our Lord's time no Pontiff has had opportunity or has pleaded so sympathisingly for the people—Two preliminary remarks: charge against the Encyclical of vagueness—The Holy Father has lifted Political Economy from selfishness to high level of Social Economy—Analysis of the Encyclical on the Origin and Constitution of Human Society—Socialism: false and destructive character: right of private ownership—Remedy for social evils, in the Church—Intervention of the State in social questions—Liberty, duties, and co-operation of workers—Just wage—Liberty to Strike—Employment of Women and Children—Effects of separation of State from Church.

ENCYCLICAL LETTER OF LEO XIII. ON THE CONDITION OF LABOUR 168

SCIENCE NOTICES 190

The Vatican Observatory—Spectroscopic determination of Motion—Classification of Stars—Rejuvenescence of Crystals—Artificial Illumination: Luminescence—Electricity as an Anæsthetic.

NOTES OF TRAVEL AND EXPLORATION 198

PAGE

NOTES ON NOVELS 203

Khaled—Bell Barry—At an Old Château—In the Heart of the Storm—Monsieur Judas—An American Girl in London—La Fenton—New Grubb Street—A Draught of Lethe—Eight Days—Eric Brighteyes.

NOTICES OF CATHOLIC CONTINENTAL PERIODICALS . . . 216

NOTICES OF BOOKS 222

Père Ollivier's La Passion—Miss Drane's History of St. Dominic—Abbé Le Camus's l'Œuvre des Apôtres—Père Brucker's S. Leon IX.—Abbé Delarc's St. Gregory VII.—H. Morse Stephen's Portugal—Abbé G. Peries's La Morale Catholique—Dr. Sanday's The Oracles of God—George Howell's Trades Unionism—J. A. Hobson's Problems of Poverty—Père de Curley's Celui Qui Est—Dr. F. G. Lee's Sinless Conception of the Mother of God—Little Manual of Expiation—Don de Cepeda's Natural Law—Abbé Moussard's Prêtre et la vie d'etude—C.T.S.'s publications—Gasquet and Bishop's Edward VI. and the Book of Common Prayer—Bishop Westcott's Essays—Rhys's Arthurian Legends—The Expositor's Bible—Sir John Croker Barrow's Mary of Nazareth.

BOOKS OF DEVOTION AND SPIRITUAL READING 240

CONTENTS.

PAGE

ART. I.—MR. HERBERT SPENCER ON JUSTICE 245

Mr. Spencer's work on Justice is entertaining, and contains many sagacious remarks; but, as an integral part of his evolutionary philosophy, "Justice" is only a development of an evolving world—The radical inadequacy of Mr. Spencer's representation of the central idea of ethics, and some consequences therefrom: he misunderstands his opponents—A table of Ethical feelings and Judgments—Mr. Spencer's formula of Justice examined—A detailed analysis of the chapters of the present book.

ART. II.—SIR JOHN FRANKLIN AND THE FAR NORTH . . 266

Interest attaching to the story of Arctic voyages: heroism of the explorers: terrors and difficulties of Arctic life—Hudson's and Baffin's polar voyages, and results—Franklin's first voyages—Character of his second wife—The fatal Expedition for the North-west Passage sails in 1845 under Franklin's command—Lady Franklin's efforts for search expeditions: fate of the explorers—Subsequent Polar Exploration: results—New expedition now being organised by Dr. Nansen.

ART. III—BLESSED THOMAS MORE 283

The troubles of our Catholic forefathers are to us what Acts of first Martyrs to the Early Church—The Reformation troubles, an argument against the "Continuity" theory—Merits of Father Bridgett's Life of Sir Thomas More—A glance through it.

ART. IV.—BENEDICTINE GOVERNMENT FROM THE SIXTH TO THE ELEVENTH CENTURY 291

A Census of the Benedictine Order published in Pennsylvania in 1880: statistics at first glance suggest serious decline: reflection modifies this, and shows a cheering prospect of increase and revival of discipline—present system of Abbots and Congregations—Object of the present Article to inquire: How was the Order governed in the first six centuries of its existence? —St. Benedict's Rule on Government—The Abbot, and nature and extent of his jurisdiction: checks to his power—The relation of Abbeys to one another: is there any limiting superior control within the Order? the Rule—The first three centuries an age of independent monasteries—Perversions of Longfellow's "Golden Legend": a correct version—Changes in government: need of reforms: St. Benedict of Anian, St. Oddo of Cluny, St. William of Hirschau: the Customs of Cluny.

PAGE

ART V.—PROGRESS OF THE PERSECUTION UNDER ELIZABETH . 311

Elizabeth's instincts and interests drew her to the new religion—Early period of her reign misrepresented by Miss Strickland—Difficulties as to her coronation—Cecil; his character: plans for alteration of religion—Bills for supremacy of Crown, &c., and new liturgy—Acts against the Bishops—Letter of Pius IV. to the Queen—The Case of Catholic attendance at the new worship finally settled at Rome—Acts of Vandalism and persecution.

ART VI.—CATHOLICISM IN THE WAVERLEY NOVELS . . . 333

Object of this Article to offer some (not rigorous criticism; for the novelist not a historian, but) broad critical remarks on the view of things Catholic presented in the Waverley Novels—Absence of Catholic influences from Sir Walter Scott's early training—The Crusades: Scott omits the First, with its incomparable heroes for romance —Remarks on "The Talisman": misleading view of Mohammedanism—Scott on the Templars; his injustice to them: a true account of their life, charges against them, and their suppression—A criticism of "Ivanhoe" and "The Betrothed"—Scott's mistakes about, and fondness for things Catholic: his anti-Pharisaical temperament, and his own estimate of a jolly Friar: instances—The Novels which illustrate the history of the Church in Scotland: abuses—Interest of the Novels to Catholics: gratitude to Sir Walter Scott.

ART. VII.—EVOLUTION AND DETERMINISM 353

Professor James Croll's astronomical explanation of the Glacial Period: his recent death—Present concern with his latest volume on "The Philosophical Basis of Evolution"—Great object of this book is to show that evolution cannot be produced by only matter, motion, and force; but that "the grand principle" of it is "Determinism"—Meaning which he attaches to this term: illustrations: Crystals, the Parallelogram of Forces—Prayer and the Weather—Value of the Principle of Causality—Determination not Selection—Determination and Teleology: a "plan" in Nature, and a designer: value of the Argument from Design—Determinism and Free Will.

PAGE

ART. VIII.—THE CULTUS OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN AS CONTAINED IN THE SARUM BREVIARY . . . 374

Various "Uses" in mediæval England: structural similarity to the Roman: comparison between Offices, in general, of Sarum and Roman Breviaries—Object of present paper to study this in particular as to the Offices in honour of Our Lady—Seven festivals in her honour in the Sarum Calendar: a study of the Offices for each of these in detail—Beauty of the Antiphons and hymns—Modern "Mariolatry," identical both in thought and feeling, with the official homage paid to the Blessed Virgin before the Reformation.

ART. IX.—HOW TO SAVE THE VOLUNTARY SCHOOLS . . . 395

The New Education Bill both good (illustrations given of its beneficial effect) and perilously dangerous—The danger lies in the future, and will prove a present benefit, if it rouse to a sense of the situation, and activity—Two perils ahead, the indirect effects of the new law: 1. The Usurpation by the State of parental rights—The State, here, not the Education Department, but the local ratepayers—The economical and administrative plea of popular control.—2. The acquiescence of parents in their own despoliation—Danger to Catholic interests: diocesan activity already aroused: a specimen "Diocesan Board of Education, its Rules, &c.—Need of lay action: formation of Committees of Management; need of intelligent parental sympathy.

SCIENCE NOTICES 412

British Association Meeting, 1891.

NOTES OF TRAVEL AND EXPLORATION 426

NOTES ON NOVELS 436

PAGE

NOTICES OF BOOKS 440

Autobiography of Archbishop Ullathorne—Letters of Father George Porter—Gasquet and Bishop's Edward VI. and the Book of Common Prayer—Father Boedder's Natural Theology—Father Charles Bowden's Life of B. Juvenal Ancina—Father Goldie's Edition of Cepari's Life of St. Aloysius Gonzaga—Père Meschler's Vie de S. Louis de Gonzague—Father Zimmermann's Maria die Katholische—Dr. Bellesheim's History of the Church in Ireland—Dr. Whitley Stoke's Saints from the Book of Lismore—G. de Pascal's l'Eglise et la Question Sociale—Dr. Boissarie's Lourdes Médicale—Père Delaporte's Poetic History of France by Jesuits—Abbé Cedoz's English Convent at Paris, 1634 to 1884—H. Boissard's Theophile Foisset—Rev. C. Hughes's Sermons—Mr. Stewart Rose's Life of St. Ignatius of Loyola—Vigouroux's Dictionnaire de la Bible—Pustet's Pontificale—Mgr. Rinaldi-Bucci's Episcopal Insignia—Popular Edition of Life of the Curé d'Ars—Dom C. O'Neill's Letter of Bishop of Grenoble on Papacy—Miss Löwy's translation of Graetz's History of the Jews—New French Dictionary—Brownson's Edition of Tarducci's C. Columbus—T. Hodgkin's Theodoric the Goth—Miss O'Meara's Blind Apostle—Hastie's Kant's Politics—Vandal's Napoleon and Alexander I.—Memoirs of (1) Baron Hyde de Neuville, (2) the Duc des Cars, (3) General Tercier, and (4) Baron de Marbot—S. Whitman's Imperial Germany—Père Pierling's Popes and Czars—Bishop Spalding's Education and the Higher Life—Rev. N. M. Redmond's Sermons—Scudia Biblica et Ecclesiastica—Morfill's Russia—Agar Beet's Epistles of St. Paul—G. A. Smith's Isaiah—Miss Tynan's A Nun and her Friends—Dr. Schiffers' Amwás, Emmaus—Letters of St. Alphonsus—Verhaegen's Cardinal Frankenburg—Mr. Holyoake's Co-operative Movement—Mgr. Wilpert's Catacomb Pictures—Dr. de Concilio's Science and Revelation—Kraus's Christian Inscriptions—Quaracchi Edition of St. Bonaventure—Father Lockhart's Works—Bishop Wordsworth's Edition of the Vulgate, &c. &c.